

Ewan Galloway

Ewan has performed a number of broadcasts for the BBC show "Take the Floor" with his complete band.

Ewan, based just outside Edinburgh in Dalkeith has been playing the accordion since the age of 14. He thinks playing Scottish music gives everyone a great lift, and loves to see dancers smiling and enjoying themselves. He is proud to keep Scottish music alive.

Ewan is the mastermind behind the wildly popular "Stagger Inn" events, a virtual haven for Scottish music lovers worldwide. These events became a lifeline during the pandemic, uniting fans from across the globe. He even produced a special one-hour show dedicated to Scottish Country Dancing.

He has travelled to the Netherlands, Argentina and more recently with Shona on Fiddle to Australia to perform for the RSCDS Summer School in Sydney. As well as this he has also taken part at the RSCDS Summer School in St Andrews for a number of years. His presence at any event secures high quality music and endless happy faces on the dance floor.